

What's going on? We are doing preliminary design of a new Parish House facility, to include church school classrooms, meeting spaces, offices, choir room, parish hall, kitchen, and lots of restrooms.

What's the timetable? This summer, the designs you saw in June will be refined. Structural engineers, soil experts, and parishioners will be consulted to ensure the design fits the space and Trinity's needs. In September, a final design will be shown to you and cost estimates prepared. During the fall, Building for Ministry will survey the parish to ascertain financial support. In early 2011, we will kick off the formal fundraising activities.

Who's in charge? You are. Parishioners are evaluating the design and giving feedback to the architects through the Building Committee, headed by Ernie Steward and Sally Myers. Make sure they know your impressions, ideas, suggestions, and worries. Greta Morgan and Walter Birge are in charge of fundraising. Junior warden Randy Hartnett is working with both groups. Any of these people will eagerly listen to your thoughts.

Will this conflict with stewardship? No. Often, the annual stewardship drive is actually boosted by the capital campaign, as the parish is reminded of the incredible breadth and depth of our ongoing ministries. Greta and Walter will work with the stewardship committee to ensure that their work is complementary.
